

This Is Your End

Unter Null

How can you talk when you've nothing to say?
How can you live when your soul is decayed?
How can you trust when there's nothing but lies?
How can you love when you only despise?

How can you be at peace with yourself
When hate and disgust escape from your mouth?
How can you punish anyone who resists
To fall in your trap where only failure exists?

Don't look away, don't look away
Your pitiful world will crumble someday
Don't look away, don't look away
In the end there's no trust
Only those who betray

In the end there is nothing
In the end there is you
In the end there is no one who will comfort you
In the end there's no mercy
No absolution of guilt
In the end there's just you
And the lies that you built