

Future

Vanilla Sky

I believe in our future
I believe I'll make it on my own
Didn't factor in the consequences or the cause

Cause I know that it will work out
And I know that it will turn out fine
I think sometimes we must let it work out on its own

Even though I'm just a human I'm still listening
To every message that was sent me from inside the wind

I believe in our future
I believe in something I don't know
There's always something that we're never meant to understand

I just hope that it will work out
I just hope that it will turn out fine

Even though i'm just a human I'm still listening
To every message that was sent me from inside the wind And I know I'm just a human that will sail away
So I'm living all the pieces of eternity

Even though i'm just a human I'm still listening To every message that was sent me from inside the wind And I know I'm just a human that will sail away So I'm living all the pieces of eternity
