

Count Your Days

Vanishing Point

White was the day when I waved goodbye
I remember it well
When night closed in there were shadows all around
Dark were the years I was lost then found
I remember it well
When I reached for help there was silence all around

Out in the world, the walls were closing in
Time was running, I was changing

So I took a look inside
I felt the great divide hold on
In a world of fear that's giving into lies
When the days of age have gone
When the years of age have won
I won't fear a world that's giving in to lies

Here I am with another day over
I saw the grey clouds turning black
When the dark closes in there will be shadows all around
Nobody is daring to dream alone
Nobody is breathing life

Out in the world, the walls were closing in
Time was running, I was changing

So I took a look inside
I felt the great divide hold on
In a world of fear that's giving into lies
When the days of age have gone
When the years of age have won
I won't fear a world that's giving in to lies

I feel the bridges burn
I feel them burn in me
No one is breathing life
Nobody's getting out alive

Out in the world, the walls were closing in
Time was running, I was changing

So I took a look inside
I felt the great divide hold on
In a world of fear that's giving into lies
If I take a look inside, if I feel the great divide hold on
In a world of fear that's giving into lies
When the days of age have gone
When the years of age have won
I won't fear a world that's giving in to lies
I won't fear
