

A Million Angels

Vaughan Penn

There is love or there is fear
It's up to you which will appear
You ask for the truth to make yourself clear
But you are stronger
You are wiser
Than you ever realized that you could be

So don't worry baby, no you'll be alright
About a million angels surround you tonight
You can't escape them even if you try
You are protected
You stand in the light
In the light
There comes a time in every man's life
He walks the line across his own strife
He stands alone
He lives then he dies
But you are chosen
One of the lucky few
And you're headed towards the purpose that you'll do

So don't worry baby, no you'll be alright
About a million angels surround you tonight
You can't escape them even if you try
You are protected
You stand in the light
In the light
In the la la la la.la la la la la light
In the la la la la.la la la la la light
But you are stronger
You are wiser
Than you ever realized that you could be

So don't worry baby, no you'll be alright
About a million angels surround you tonight
You can't escape them even if you try
You are protected
You stand in the light
In the light
In the la la la la.la la la la la light
In the la la la la.la la la la la light
In the light light light
In the light light light