

No, I lost me
I don't love me
And now I think I am
And now I thought I was
So carry me home I can't see straight when I'm walking
My glass is half-full but the liquid is toxic
Benadryl in the morning, I sleep through the day
I've been meaning to strike up a conversation
My head has been making me weigh

You've been lying and
I've been lying and
We've been lying 'cause
Liars like to

Each other soul
We keep it up and swallow it down while it's cold
I like the way it is
It's better than liking and saying we won't

Your medicine slow my vision
You're repetitive, flood my system 'til I'm sick of it
Wash you down like a habit I can't quit
Your medicine slow my vision
You're repetitive, flood my system 'til I'm sick of it
I take you every morning

Dramamine in the afternoon
I never learn just how to move
Been waiting for you to come take your turn
Flip me upside down though I never learn
So strike me down in my inhibition
Shoot me down, reckless precision

You've been lying and
I've been lying and
We've been lying 'cause
Liars like

Your medicine slow my vision
You're repetitive, flood my system 'til I'm sick of it
Wash you down like a habit I can't quit
Your medicine slow my vision
You're repetitive, flood my system 'til I'm sick of it
I take you every morning
I take you every morning, morning, morning
I take you every morning, morning, morning

I take you every morning
I take you every morning
Your medicine slow my vision
You're repetitive, flood my system 'til I'm sick of it
And wash you down like a habit I can't quit
I take you every morning, morning, morning
I take you every morning, morning, morning
I take you every morning, morning, morning
I take you every morning, morning, morning
