

Alone

Vern Gosdin

Alone at a table for two, alone waiting for you
I ordered the wine like so many times before
Then a chill crawled all over me
My God, this is how it would be
If you, just didn't love me, any more

I never knew, how much I loved you
Until I sat here all by myself
You know, you control my heart and my soul
There'll never be anyone else

So don't be surprised at these tears in my eyes
It's a feeling I've never known
Now I can see, I was never meant to be alone

Alone, I'd never stand tall, alone, I'd be nothing at all
Your empty chair nearly scared me to death
And then, you walked through that door
And my heart, started beating once more
Oh, please, don't ever leave me here like this

I never knew, how much I loved you
Until I sat here all by myself
You know you control, my heart and my soul
There'll never be anyone else

So don't be surprised at these tears in my eyes
It's a feeling, I've never known
Now I can see I was never meant to be alone

It's a feeling I've never known
Now I can see, I was never meant to be alone
Oh, now I can see, I never want to be alone
