You Will Know

Walk these lonely streets without a home Dear Mary, where's the kids When did they leave? Where did they go?

Feel the morning breeze, after all these years Been so far away, in a prison cell I no longer wanna feel the darkness in my soul

Forever, forever you will know Forever and ever, you will know

Here I sit again, lost at your place I brought the flowers that I know you like For you my dear

All the memories, after all these years Couldn't find a way

Never been the same I no longer wanna feel the darkness in my soul

Forever, forever you will know Forever and ever, you will know

I'll find the peace alongside the road And make believe there's a sign for us all The innocence, that I know I behold Will set my spirit free, so long

Forever, forever you will know Forever and ever, you will know

Forever, forever you will know Forever and ever you will know, that I love you
