

When Silence Conquers

Vomitory

Echoes of cannons, fading away, silence finally conquers
Field in red, consuming life, where death took command
Covered in remains of scattered companions, aftermath of war
Blinded by victory, a battle defeated, where is the honour

Soldiers scream for mercy, when they are trapped
In machinegun massacre

Soldiers path, filled with blood, casualties, of war

Charge against the enemy through a bullet rain
Soldiers defleshed in a massive attack

Decapitated bodies, soldiers torn apart
Mourning the loss, in a bloodbath

Soldiers path, filled with blood, casualties, of war