He'll whisper lies and lure you to his pitfall and leave you tr apped in your own shame

The Hunter's always looking in the shadows waiting to pounce up on his prey

Sould you give him more than a passing glance

He'll haunt you down and steal your heart away

Pay no attention to his silver tongue be careful of his dashing manner

Just keep your arms around the one you love and beware of the  ${\tt H}$  unter

He'll track you one by one until you're fallin'
