More You See Me Less

Wanda Jackson

For some time I've watched your coldness grow It's true that nothing lasts forever I guess But your resentment is so strong that it shows You seem to like me better the more you see me less You seem to like me better the less you see of me The more I try the more you once set free To love you I done my very best but you like me better the more you see me less [steel] I can't believe it you're really gonna let me fall Cause the times that I gave you were my best My consolation is ever having you at all But now you like me better the more you see me less You seem to like me better... You seem to like me better the more you see me less
