Of Fear And Total Control

War from a Harlots Mouth

From shelter to shelter you roam, wishing you could find yourself a home. It's not this house, it's me & you.

& while you obsess over the dark, I obsess over you.

Where ever you are trying to hide, I am already there.

Clandestine, these eyes are eating you alive. Every single bite leaves a mark. These eyes, like teeth they grind.

Did you do something wrong? There are doubts in your mind. The truth is that in this world, sanity is hard to find.

I know that I am the one who's insane. About you they say the same.