

Crest of the Wave

Wardrum

Moulds of starring roles form the minds for the play
Get your part and wait 'till the dance of the fay
The dogs of ambition will set you for the mission
Make sure you won't miss the bleeding phase

And when you walk on the crest of the wave
And soil your feet in the shores of elation
If there's a grief you feel you save
This is the pain of salvation

Oceans of blue tears but the fears never sink
Floating through the years on our faces they link
Like souls of immortals in obligating portals
They enter the memories we bring

But when you walk on the crest of the wave
And soil your feet in the shores of elation
The only grief you feel you save
Is just the pain of salvation

It's walking over, it's taking over, it's getting over
This phase will take you home

And when you walk on the crest of the wave
And soil your feet in the shores of elation
If there's a grief you feel you save
This is the pain of salvation

It's walking over, it's taking over, it's getting over
This phase will take you home
