

Growing-up, The Next Step

Warzone

Do you hide you pride - is pride your guide
As you deal with everyday life
Do you seek to win - hold it all in
At problems that cause strife
Are you easily misled - by the things you dread
For fear of what a friend might say
Who's life are you living - what thanks are you giving
That you're alive another day
Think for a while, do your friends set your style
You should be home - it's the streets you roam
Until they have had their fill
Gave you a chance, you lied (4x)

You're always running with pack
Self-confidence you lack
No inner strength to see you through
You say you have pride, but yet you hide
This world's game, it dares you to
This world won't give a shit
No inner strength to see you through (2x)