

Broke in two

We Three

You're laying in my arms, but it feels like you're across the room
Both your eyes on mine, but it feels like we're looking right through
We're running out of time when we both have nothing else to do
Yeah, love me like I'm blind
Baby, touch me like I can't see you

And I'm not quite sure how to tell you this
That I'm not quite sure I can live like this

Fingers running through my hair, your brain is somewhere else I swear
Fingertips are on my belt, but none of this we've even felt
You're kissing me, I'm kissing you, I smell your strawberry shampoo
Reminds me of when we were new, but now we're broken broke in two

I'm kissing you goodbye, but it feels like you already left
Ask me why I lie, cause when I lie you think I'm at my best
I'm looking side to side just to avoid your eyes
We start to synchronize and normalize, we're numb inside
We breathe we're not alive, we live in a disguise
Ceilings are not the sky, we stay inside

And I'm not quite sure how to tell you this
That I'm not quite sure I can live like this

Fingers running through my hair, your brain is somewhere else I swear
Fingertips are on my belt, but none of this we've even felt
You're kissing me, I'm kissing you, I smell your strawberry shampoo
Reminds me of when we were new, but now we're broken broke in two

I'm walking side to side just to avoid your eyes
We start to synchronize and normalize, we're numb inside

And I'm not quite sure how to tell you this

That I'm not quite sure I can live like this

We're broke in two
