

Running

We Three

Thank you for everything
You know I'm good, I can numb the pain
You know that you're always welcome here
I'm the kind of man who can hold his stares
Where would you like to go? We can go there and stay
We could be away, 'cause baby I got all day

Hear the whisper, feel the breeze
This kind of wind to bring you to your knees
And it'll show you how to love someone
Love someone that you're running from

People keep locking, then talking behind those doors again
You keep mocking my walk, and I just can't call you my friend
I've been around the bend, this is nothing new Did I lose a friend? Should I make amends? Did I make this mess
'Cause I thought that you got dressed, unless this stress from you

Hear the whisper, feel the breeze
This kind of wind to bring you to your knees
And it'll show you how to love someone
Love someone that you're running from

We tried this before and ended up with hoarse voices
How can you ignore these loud noises?
We tried this before and ended up with hoarse voices
How can you ignore all of these loud noises?

Hear the whisper, feel the breeze
This kind of wind to bring you to your knees
And it'll show you how to love someone
Love someone that you're running from
That you're running from
That you're running from
That you're running from
