

C Myself and Eye

Wellwater Conspiracy

Go to town, running innocent
To wallow now, can't move it
Can't sit by another minute

As the time goes
Your freedom thrown up against the wall
I can see myself

You put it on and keep it moving
Another day leads to ruin
Just understand that we can do it

Can't waste another minute
Bygones now are bad decisions

The plaster walls are accusing, refusing

As the time goes
Your freedom thrown up against the wall
I can see myself

Reach out to what you ruined
And all you wanted raced to seize it
I hope you hear my voice calling

All your fear leads to vision
When the dawn has lost its reason
And we were meant to go through it

As the time goes
Your freedom rolls up against the wall
I can see myself