

Life, Voice, Action, Change

Whatever It Takes

It seems today, and it is so sad to say
People and their differences
Build up like brick walls

Whether color of skin
Or sexual preference of a human
One can only take so much

So I raise my voice in anger
And I raise my voice in disgust

[Chorus: x2]
It takes life for this to begin
We raise our voice, raise up and sing in
We raise in action
To bring change

Whether color of skin
Or sexual preference of a human
One can only take so much

So I raise my fist in anger
And I raise my fist in disgust

[Chorus: x2]

I'm not wasting my time
With bullshit and lies
You're talking too much
I'm not wasting my time on you

So I raise my voice
So I raise my voice
And I raise my fist
And I raise my fist
I'll see you
I'll see you
