Devolver

Whitechapel

Forever the darkness prevails

The sun has set as darkness prevails Now we all devolve and rot in hell

These are the words of the suffering lords Dethroned they remain degraded as they burn

Welcome to hell

Where suffering reigns Hypocrite tongues they speak Wishing for death wishing for the end

Like cowards they flee

Welcome to hell

Where suffering reigns The most worthless creation of all Has finally devolved to something beautiful

Nothing They are obsolete And now the creator has fell to his knees

The most worthless creation of all Has finally devolved to something beautiful

Nothing They are obsolete And now the creator has fell to his knees Now they pray for a savior to come

That savior is dead

This is what I long for This is what I live for

They said they would return Now their souls are all frozen in time

We have waited all our lives for this moment to come The time has arrived

The new era has begun

This is what I long for This is what I live for

We are the ones who detest your lies Reverse the cycle reduced to nothingness

Welcome to hell

Where the suffering reigns The most worthless creation of all Has finally devolved to something beautiful

Nothing They are obsolete And now the creator has fell to his knees

The most worthless creation of all Has finally devolved to something beautiful

Nothing They are obsolete And now the creator has fell to his knees