

We Know What's Right

Whitecross

Your love for the city
Full of sin, what a pity
When You arrive they don't know who You are
You came unto Your own
God's love will now be shown
They don't know You're the bright and morning star

So blinded by their law
Their hope will burn like straw

We know what's right
We'll stand and fight, it's time to rise
Come on and see
The victory before your eyes

Your death for the city
So complete, it wasn't pretty
They didn't understand what You had planned
You arose three days later
Death was strong, but You were greater
Still those closest to You could not stand

So blinded by their pain
Didn't know what they would gain

If you know so well the right thing to do
For you not to do it is wrong
Yesterday is gone, now whatever you do
Just remember to whom you belong
