Muzzle of Bees

There's a random painted highway And a muzzle of bees My sleeves have come unstitched From climbing your tree

And dogs laugh, some say they're barking I don't think they're mean Some people get so frightened Of the fences in between

And the sun gets passed from tree to tree Silently, and back to me With the breeze blown through Pushed up against the sea Finally back to me

I'm assuming you got my message On your machine I'm assuming you love me And you know what that means

Sun gets passed, sea to sea Silently, and back to me With the breeze blown through Pushed up above the leaves

With the breeze blown through My head upon your knee Half of it's you, half is me Half of it's you, half is me

Wilco