Will Haven

Today I awoke my eyes were blind to the colors of this beautiful world which scares me because I've planned to apint a self portrait of my world do you remember my asking your opinion of me the answer was so beautiful and inspiring so prayed to the brushes to see my values but they had a conspiracy against me which is my own theory but how can I prove it on speculation Courtney I love you for being her my savior but I can pretend to be suffering in between brushstrokes and will gather to see my work goals achieved because of you my darling I'm choosing the colors of my self portrait
