Errors Of My Way

Wishbone Ash

I didn't know what day it was that day, Felt just like falling down on my knees to pray. Looked at myself, and all that I could say Was,"I think I see the errors of my way".

There in the glass there was something caught my eye, Although I try through my sighing not to cry. See where I am, and what I try to say, Just so I'll look at the errors of my way.

Guess I got no one around to pull me through. I just need someone to turn to, yes, I do. Doin' my best just to change my yesterday, Then I won't have no more errors of my way.
