I like to hold hands when we walk, I'm not adverse to pillow talk

But I prefer a private joke, the memory it evokes Because, its our punchline, its our punchline

That film we saw from the front row, it means so much to us alo ne

I love the wrinkled brows of anyone else around Because its our punchline, its our punchline

And when were out then you say, "It would appear we laugh and laugh no one else hears," no one at all, at all...

And when were out then you say, "It would appear that no one el se hears, " no one at all, at all

If you want to be a romantic fool you don't have to say I love you, just say whats in your heart, non-sequitor or not, and wit hout even trying find your punchline, find your punchline....
