The Hour Grows Late

Yo La Tengo

As he fired up the drum machine He stole a glance at the empty seats He took a minute to retune his guitar As the hour grew late

I wanna send this out to Richie Vey In his thrift-store corner of the world His soul is my cheap laugh As the hour grows late