

You Can (Taylor's Song)

Yolanda Adams

Yeah, yeah, yeah, yeah, yeah, you can
Yeah, yeah, yeah, yeah, yeah, you can

Seems like only yesterday
I held you in my arms
Calling you my darling girl
Keeping you safe from harm
Watching your every move
To be there you would fall
Now you're older and stronger

Now baby remember your destiny
It's right there in your hands
And no one can't change
What God ordains in His plan
Your life has been met out
That we understand
You were born for this so remember this

Every day you wake up
Keep your head to the sky
And even though the gray days
When it seems the Sun won't shine
Remember who you are
And who lives inside
You can yes you can

I want you to know
There's nothing that you can't do
'Cause there's so much potential
Inside of you
Remember God is faithful
He'll see you through
And He cares and This is my prayer
That God will keep you in his loving embrace
And that He'll guide your every footstep in then repairs
That you grow in His wisdom and His Grace
'Cause you were born for this so remember this

Every day you wake up gotta
Keep your head to the sky
And even though the gray days
When it seems the Sun won't shine
You got to remember who you are
And who lives inside
You can yes you can

Gotta hard to go to know some there you, my darling girl
There's nothing I would do for you in this world
Proud to be your mamma and you are my precious curl
You were born for this so remember this

Every day you wake up
Keep your head to the sky
And even though the gray days
When it seems the Sun won't shine
Remember who you are

And who lives inside
You were born for this so remember this
You can yes you can
