YOURCODENAMEIS:MILO

Gravity pulls me down, But I wish it was the only thing. It was never meant to be this way. I'm sure you don't forget a thing. And I almost, I almost, I almost stood out, Just a face in the crowd. Can I pretend that I was on the run and everyone was everywhere fall down, But I can't feel the earth. I'm standing still. Start all over. Start all over. Start all over. Can I pretend that I was on the run and everyone was everywhere fall down, But I can't feel the earth. I'm standing still. Yet empty feat were all that came. Yet empty feat were all that came. Weren't the shadows thin the last time, I could fall illuminate. Mine is the light, Walk in the opening act fails. Can I pretend that I was on the run and everyone was everywhere. Fall down, But I pretend that I was on the run and everyone was everywhere.