

Everytime I Dream

Yusuf Islam

Every time I dream
I keep seeing streets and alleyways places that I've never known Every time I dream I am being lifted to a height that I too frightened to go Then I wake up and find everything's away it seems, one night ago.

Every time I sleep
I keep hoping this would be the night of nights that I see you again As I close my eyes like rims and curtains slowly rising on an empty stage Then I'm back in the stall sitting all alone waiting for the show to begin.

Oooh ...

Every time I dream
I would often find myself running from a wild pack of lice
'Till I reach a house and hear the gurge upstairs and look for a place to hide
But if I saw you there I wouldn't dare dream again of opening my eyes.

Mmm ...
