She keeps me waiting in the morning Tying ribbons in her hair And come the evening theres no warning Why I'm not to know why she isn't there No time to tell her all the reasons Why I always disappear And in those desperate situations I just fade away still she never cares But Glorafilia says She says its just another Sunday afternoon oh oh And Glorafilia says She says there ain't no point in loving you no oh She keeps me wrapped around her finger So I don't know what to do And using my imagination She could set me free I bet she's dying to And sipping wine around a table Her expense is plain to see Entertainging for a living She's got everything that she doesn't need But Glorafilia says She says its just another Sunday afternoon oh oh And Glorafilia says She says there ain't no point in loving you no oh I can't sleep at night I must show that things just ain't right I really need to know But Glorafilia says She says its just another Sunday afternoon oh oh

She says its just another Sunday afternoon oh oh And Glorafilia says
She says there ain't no point in loving you no oh
But Glorafilia says
She says its just another Sunday afternoon oh oh And Glorafilia says
She says there ain't no point in loving you no oh
