

Democide

Zero Hour

We've lived this life together in an endless paradise but something wicked this way comes

They came in shrieking revolutionary cries with malice and murder in their eyes

A fervent fever to control the just To pound freedom into dust

Damn you, damn you all. Damn you, you planned the fall Damn you, damn you all. Damn you, damn you

In the West the empires fall
In the East the nations crawl
North and South will seek survival
the moment you came to life
No you were dead on arrival

New ways with dangerous means Smoke the pipe and live the dream

In the West the empires fall
In the East the nations crawl
North and South will seek survival
the moment you came to life
No you were dead on arrival

Masters without a nation or given a name
Will make you sick and afflict the lame Bow down to all of our extravagant claims Prophets of guilt and priests of shame

We are invincible the all-seeing eye everyone will know and keep their place We are invisible we watch while you sleep we can read every line on your face

Damn you, damn you all. Damn you, heed our call Damn you, damn you all. Damn you damn you

And now the ship is sinking No captains crews or sails the hull is cracked and leaking sailors seeking shore

What we were now has been What we are will always be Time is gone without sin curse the day the evil came in

And now the minds are thinking the men of truth are adrift washed ashore their bodies consumed by nothingness

One by one and two by two
They follow
One by one and two by two
They swallow
One by one and two by two
They're hollow
One by one and two by two
They choke

One by one and two by two
Over you
Two by two and three by three
They grew
Four by four and five by five
They live
Six by six by six
You die

And now the hearts are beating a rhythm that is out of time as the beat pounds relentless these victims of the crime

And a voice from above said Is it in heaven your souls you seek or the eternal mystery Or is it heaven in your souls you keep I will provide I will provide I will keep you alive

Damn you, damn you to Hell Damn you, you laughed as we all fell
Has the storm finally broken
Have the floods all gone dry Did the winds finally subside has the darkness left the sky
Have the clouds dearly departed
Has a light filled the land
A submission or illusion or maybe a sleight of hand

Damn you piercing eyes
Damn you democide

With blood and tears and sweat and pride Comes a new golden dawn
a new sunrise

We all see the view true North still is true the fight remains in each of you the simple way is always through

The acceptance of pain
Accept the pain
This gift of reason is yours to gain

In the West the empires thrive
In the East the nations wide North and South they have survived the moment you come into this world

you are alive